About This Game

Action survival game. You start with 3 random survivors in your crew. Your goal is to make it out of the city by heading North-East. Along the way you will run into other survivors that you can add to your crew and expand your random character selection when you start you next run.

The game is broken down into 2 sections. The world map and the scripted/random encounters where you face of against other crews and hordes of various types of zombies.

You will need to search around for food, gas and medical supplies in order to make it to your destination. Run out of gas and you will no longer be able to go on until you find more. With no food supplies left your crew starts acting out, some will run away with the remainder of your supplies others will just abandon your team. Without medicine there is no way to restore health back to any of your crew members.

The screenshot shows a character named Malik, a bald man with a goatee wearing a dark tactical vest and blue jeans, standing in a dark, industrial environment. A large blue-bordered text box contains the following text:

You drive up next to the group and roll down your window. Despite how they look like from far away, they seem pretty relaxed. No one is reaching for their weapons. They are either fearless or they don't recognise the reality of the world they are currently living in. One of them walks up to you. "Hey, I'm Malik. What can I do for you?" he says.

Below the text box are three dialogue options in blue-bordered boxes:

- Ask Malik and his whole crew to join you.
- Ask them what they are doing just hanging out in the open as if nothing was going on.
- Bid Malik and his gang farewell. Let him know you are just passing through.

The game's dashboard is visible at the bottom, featuring a speedometer showing 97, a fuel gauge with 43.5 units, a digital clock showing 00:19:00, and a character selection bar with icons for Soraya, Maggie, and Darius.

An okay premise that is let down but a couple of serious flaws.

- No music leaves the gameplay very bland.
- Ticking clock that runs even when you are reading the tutorial

The art assets are low end but servicable.

The random events would be REALLY cool if I didn't just click off of them immediately in order to not waste time.
